"One can never pay in gratitude; one can only pay "in kind" somewhere else in life."

To pay "in kind" somewhere else in life would surely take a terrific deed on our part, therefore, we shall simply say, Thank You.

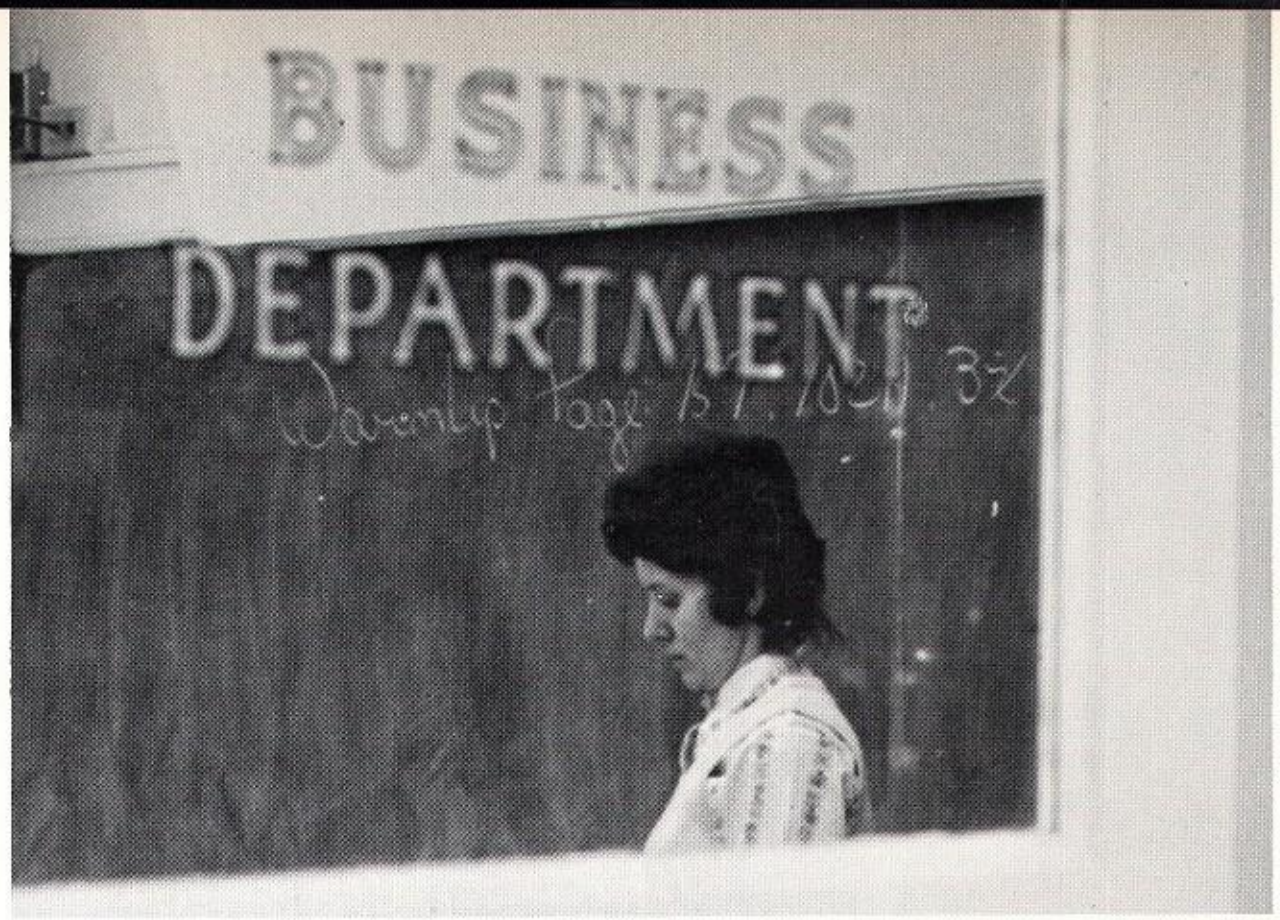
Teachers



The teacher, the dispenser of knowledge in the school system, is very often the subject of criticism by students. Many think that a teacher is some sort of inhuman creature that has no feelings. We often overlook the fact that, like us, teachers are people.

Along with being an instructor to students, a teacher is also a friend to them. He or she is, in fact, a very "special" friend. From this friend, a student learns a great deal of valuable knowledge about life, in addition to the valuable knowledge he learns in school. Students should listen carefully as the teacher speaks, for in him speaks the voice of experience. Since he was once a youth also, a teacher knows the difficulties his pupils are facing, both in and out of school. He guides, encourages, and best of all, understands them.

Students should realize the time and effort that teachers give in trying to help their students become better people. Therefore, the Class of 1974 would like to say a brief, but sincere "thank you" to our teachers – our friends.

With a glance back upon the 1973 Baseball season we can see just one small ray of sunshine. This sunshine is a ray of hope, hope for the future. We could see signs of promise from our team of just two seniors and two juniors.

Looking back upon the 1973 soccer season, we the players, coach, and spectators are proud of the success that we achieved. We didn't win any championships, however, we did defeat some prominent teams along our way to making ourselves known throughout the league.

SPORTS

We the basketball players of the '73–'74 Heatly Basketball team feel we can hold our heads high. Winning or losing we displayed excellent sportsmanship and let our actions on the basketball court speak for us. Although at times we became discouraged as our quest for first place slipped away in the waning moments of the season. We overcame this disappointment to end our season with a moral victory defeating a prominent team.

As Cheerleaders of Heatly High, we are proud to say we stand behind a great team. We may have seen some losses, but our wins will stay in our minds forever. We cheered for a team that proved themselves to us, and we are glad we had the chance to encourage them onto victory.

"A Night in the Life of a Basketball Uniform."

About once a week, on game night, the life of a basketball uniform becomes one of the most fascinating existences possible. On that night, the uniform is neatly folded and tucked into the gym bag for what will seem an endless journey to the locker room.

Upon reaching the locker room, the uniform is placed on the bench while its owner prepares to don it. From the moment the player is in his uniform, his emotional preparation for the game has begun. He begins to suffer what is known in the world of sports as "pre-game jitters." However, once in the game, his uniform, moist with perspiration, the player enjoys the challenge of fierce competition.

Then, at the game's end, the uniform once again becomes a symbol, this time of either defeat or victory. If, upon reaching the confines of the locker room, the player hurls it to an unpleasant destiny, one can sense that the game has been an effort in futility. However, if this garment is gently slipped off and neatly strung over the locker door, one can be just as sure that the ultimate goal has been achieved: "Victory."

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred Seventy Four wish to thank some very special people. It is these people to whom we shall dedicate this yearbook.

These people are our friends. When we were depressed, they cheered us; when we were in trouble, they supported us; when we needed them, they helped us. We extend our thanks to these friends by dedicating this book to them.

These people are our teachers, whose guidance helped us through several situations which were easily overcome through their assistance. They shared with us the wisdom they gained through their experiences in life. To our teachers we extend our thanks by dedicating this book to them.

These people are the members of the Board of Education. These people carefully budgeted the money provided by the government in supplying us with the equipment and needs most beneficial to us. To these people we dedicate this book as a token of our appreciation.

We wish to thank everyone that was involved in making our high school years not only educationally successful, but also very enjoyable. It is for this reason that we dedicate the 1974 Islander to Heatly High School.

LORD, MAKE US INSTRUMENTS OF THY PEACE.
Where there is hatred, let us show love.
Where there is injury, pardon;
Where there is discord, union;
Where there is doubt, faith;
Where there is despair, hope;
Where there is darkness, light;
Where there is sadness, joy;
For thy mercy and for thy truth's sake.

Amen.

As it nears time to leave the security of Heatly's Halls we sail on the wings of the seagull. For as he is free to choose his ocean, we are free to make our lives, "as small as our controlling desires, as great as our dominant aspirations."

—Quotation by James Allen—
